
Cultures:

Intimacy (Pursuing God and each other)

- We have been invited by God into the most fulfilling relationship with Him that we could ever imagine. He is full of love, mercy, and grace, and through the death and resurrection of Jesus, we have been given access to this intimacy with Him. Because of this, we have a culture of keeping Jesus at the center of all we do. We pursue Him, because He first pursued us, and we live in His presence, because He promised to give it. We also understand that we have been designed to experience life with others. Because of this, we have a culture that honors every person for who God made them to be, and we welcome input from our mothers, fathers, brothers, and sisters in the faith. It's in the exchange of what God has placed in each of us that we fulfill God's desire for us to love one another and build each other up.

Identity (Knowing God and who we are in Him)

- We have been designed to display the character and nature of our Father in Heaven, so in our journey of discovering who we are in Christ, we must first know who God is. Because of this, we have a culture of knowing God more deeply. As we experience God's presence, and learn more about Him, our response is to celebrate His greatness, and to worship Him in everything we put our hands to. The character of God is the blueprint of who we are to become. Because of this, we have a culture of becoming more like Him, and are on a journey of reflecting more of His nature in all that we say and do. Through this process of surrendering our lives to God, and laying down false identities, we come into a greater understanding of who we were made to be, so that we can better conduct our lives as sons and daughters of God.

Influence (Fulfilling God's commission to us)

- We have been called to be the hands and feet of Jesus to the world around us. Jesus demonstrated a life of serving others, and He also showed us how to bring powerful change to the things that the enemy has taken. Because of this, we have a culture that continues the mission of Christ on the earth. We take on the responsibility to serve others and help lead them into a relationship with God. We are called to disciple people, places, and systems that God has given us favor with. We are designed to do this in the context of a Holy Spirit, supernaturally empowered life that is prophetically led. As we walk in the faith and authority that Jesus has given us, we will see Kingdom transformation come to people and places as they are restored back to the Father.
